

TRAUMA-INFORMED INTERVENTIONS FOR School-Based Professionals

SEPTEMBER 24, 2021

VIA LIVE WEBINAR

DESCRIPTION

This course is an introduction to trauma-focused cognitive behavioral therapy (TF-CBT) and strategies that support the goals of TF-CBT.

School-based professionals are on the front lines addressing some of society's most vexing challenges, including childhood trauma. Have you ever felt like you needed some specialized tools? This 4-hour webinar will provide an overview of TF-CBT, the gold standard in evidence-based treatment for children aged 3-18 who have experienced trauma. It includes a case study, creative interventions, and practical strategies school-based clinicians and professionals can use with their students. This "taste of TF-CBT" just might inspire you to pursue further training, consultation, and rostering in TF-CBT so you can add this valuable model to your own trauma-informed practice.

AUDIENCE

Psychologists, mental health and substance use professionals, school-based professionals, and other professionals interested in an introduction to trauma-focused cognitive behavioral therapy.

OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this program, participants will be able to:

- Understand the basics of Trauma-Focused Cognitive Behavioral Therapy to determine whether they would like to pursue additional training and consultation to make them proficient at the model
- Screen children who have experienced trauma and make appropriate referrals for further assessment by a rostered TF-CBT clinician
- Provide basic psychoeducation about the impact of trauma on children
- Demonstrate the ability to operationalize trauma symptoms and effectively use weekly symptom tracking to monitor progress
- Identify at least two strategies for helping traumatized children with emotion regulation
