

ENNEAGRAM

ENNEAGRAM AND MYERS BRIGGS (MBTI): Complementary Double Windows for Viewing Personality Styles

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28, 2021

DESCRIPTION

With so many ways to arrange pieces of the personality puzzle, the Enneagram and Myers Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI) have proven to be two of the most relevant and useful approaches for understanding the multifaceted dimensions of personality. While it is not possible to correlate or predict one's Enneagram style from one's Myers Briggs type, and vice versa, these typologies nuance and complement one another so well that each adds to the richness of the other. Participants will gain a fascinating overview of Enneagram personality styles and Jungian types, while exploring theories and research studies comparing the two systems, to illuminate convergence and divergence between the two. Attend the workshop to discover how 16 can seriously fit into 9!

Dr. Jerome Wagner, an expert in both personality models, combines information to make sense of the missing pieces. Several Enneagram and Jungian inventories are available online (www.wepss.com). Registrants may want to try some of them to estimate their own types prior to the workshop. Either way, this day holds fascinating insights that may help you understand yourself as well as clients you serve in both business and clinical settings!

AUDIENCE

Mental health practitioners, business professionals, and spiritual directors—including licensed clinical psychologists, licensed professional counselors, clinical social workers, clergy members, and marriage and family therapists—as well as others who are interested in personality development, interpersonal dynamics, organizational development, groups, and personal growth.

OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this workshop, participants will be able to:

- List and describe key attributes of the 9 Enneagram types
- List and describe key attributes of the 16 personality types identified by Myers Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI)
- Describe correlations among Enneagram and MBTI types (similarities and divergence)
- Discuss personality types based on 16 MBTI types and 9 Enneagram types within a type-alike group
- Report analyses/correlations between the two systems, based on insights gained in this seminar through lecture and discussion

FACULTY

Jerome Wagner, PhD—an internationally recognized Master of the Enneagram—is a clinical psychologist, therapist, supervisor, consultant in private practice, and a Professor Emeritus in the Department of Psychology and the Institute of Pastoral Studies at Loyola University, Chicago. He is the author of Nine Lenses on the World: the Enneagram Perspective; The Enneagram Spectrum of Personality Styles: an Introductory Guide; Wagner Enneagram Personality Style Scales, a validated Enneagram inventory; and a 6-section audio publication, Two Windows on the Self: the Enneagram and Myers-Briggs. Jerry has been researching and teaching the Enneagram for more than 40 years and has offered the Enneagram Spectrum Training and Certification Program on a national and international level for the past 20 years. Dr. Wagner's dissertation was one of the first written descriptions of the Enneagram and he pioneered formal research studies on the Enneagram. Inherent in his study was the construction of an Enneagram inventory which has evolved over the years. The current version and manual of his highly researched and statistically validated Wagner Enneagram Personality Style Scales (WEPPS) may be taken online and is also available in hard copy from Western Psychological Services. An invited speaker at all of the International Enneagram Association (IEA) Conferences, Dr. Wagner has served on the Board of Directors of the IEA, has been the editor of the Association's NinePoints Bulletin, and co-editor of The Enneagram Journal. He has published numerous articles in these journals as well as the Enneagram Monthly. For his early and continuing contributions to the Enneagram community, Jerry was honored by being named a Founder of the International Enneagram Association. He was the keynote speaker for the 2010 IEA Global Conference, the IEA China 2013 Conference, the IEA European 2017 Conference, the IEA China Conference 2019, and the Great Lakes IEA Conference 2020. Jerry has presented Enneagram workshops for business consultants and coaches, human resource directors, counselors, therapists, spiritual directors, educators, and personal growth audiences throughout the United States and in Canada, England, Spain, Finland, Sweden, Australia, Hong Kong, Singapore, South Africa, and Egypt.
